

120

A heatmap visualization on a square grid. The background is a dark purple color. In the upper right quadrant, there is a localized area of high intensity, represented by a bright yellow-green spot. The intensity decreases as it moves away from this spot, transitioning through light green and blue to the dark purple background. The spot is roughly circular and centered in the upper right area of the grid.